

War has been declared on comedy. After decades of being under federal surveillance, mob boss Victor Grant finally figured out a way to beat them at their own game and hold a mob meeting in private. He arranges a Caribbean cruise, where, in international waters he and his mob cohorts can meet in peace and quiet and plan and scheme. Back home all goes well until, under the watchful eye of Grant's British housekeeper, his young son is kidnapped. Elizabeth, the housekeeper, in a panic calls Jack Pellegrino, Grant's nephew for help with paying the one million dollar ransom. Thus sets in motion a chain lightning string of comical events when the feds believe Pellegrino is preparing for a mob related war. While Pellegrino scampers to raise the one million, the feds and police put the city in lockdown and prepare for a bloodbath. And the British housekeeper, she makes tea.
